

Awesome Customer Service

Awesome Customer Service should be an integral part of your job and should not be seen as an extension of it. A company's most vital asset is its customers. Without them, you would not and could not exist in business. When you satisfy your customers, they not only help you grow by continuing to do business with you, but recommend you to friends and associates.

The practice of customer service should be as present on the show floor as it is in any other sales or office environment.

The Ten Commandments of Awesome Customer Service

1. Know who is boss. You are in business to service customer needs, and you can only do that if you know what it is your customers want. When you truly listen to your customers, they let you know what they want and how you can provide good service. Never forget that the customer pays your salary and makes your job possible.
2. Be a good listener. Take the time to identify customer needs by asking questions and concentrating on what the customer is really saying. Listen to their words, tone of voice, body language, and most importantly, how they feel. Beware of making assumptions - thinking you intuitively know what the customer wants. Do you know what three things are most important to your customer?

Effective listening and undivided attention are particularly important on the show floor where there is a great danger of preoccupation - looking around to see to whom else you could be selling to.

3. Identify and anticipate needs. Customers don't buy products or services. They buy good feelings and solutions to problems. Most customer needs are emotional rather than logical. The more you know your customers, the better you become at anticipating their needs. Communicate regularly so that you are aware of problems or upcoming needs.
4. Make customers feel important and appreciated. Treat them as individuals. Always use their name and find ways to compliment them, but be sincere. People value sincerity. It creates good feeling and trust. Think about ways to generate good feelings about doing business with you. Customers are very sensitive and know whether or not you really care about them. Thank them every time you get a chance.

5. On the show floor be sure that your body language conveys sincerity. Your words and actions should be congruent. Help customers understand your systems. Your organization may have the world's best systems for getting things done, but if customers don't understand them, they can get confused, impatient and angry. Take time to explain how your systems work and how they simplify transactions. Be careful that your systems don't reduce the human element of your organization.
6. Appreciate the power of "Yes". Always look for ways to help your customers. When they have a request (as long as it is reasonable) tell them that you can do it. Figure out how afterwards. Look for ways to make doing business with you easy. Always do what you say you are going to do.
7. Know how to apologize. When something goes wrong, apologize. It's easy and customers like it. The customer may not always be right, but the customer must always win. Deal with problems immediately and let customers know what you have done. Make it simple for customers to complain. Value their complaints. As much as we dislike it, it gives us an opportunity to improve. Even if customers are having a bad day, go out of your way to make them feel comfortable.
8. Give more than expected. Since the future of all companies lies in keeping customers happy, think of ways to elevate yourself above the competition. Consider the following:
 - What can you give customers that they cannot get elsewhere?
 - What can you do to follow-up and thank people even when they don't buy?
 - What can you give customers that is totally unexpected?
9. Get regular feedback. Encourage and welcome suggestions about how you could improve. There are several ways in which you can find out what customers think and feel about your services.
 - Listen carefully to what they say.
 - Check back regularly to see how things are going.
 - Provide a method that invites constructive criticism, comments and suggestions.

Treat employees well. Employees are your internal customers and need a regular dose of appreciation. Thank them and find ways to let them know how important they are. Treat your employees with respect and chances are they will have a higher regard for customers. Appreciation stems from the top. Treating customers and employees well is equally important.

Awesome Customer Service - Worksheet

The four purposes of business are:

Purpose 1 – to create _____ customers ?

Purpose 2 – to make sure they keep _____ ?

Purpose 3 – to turn them into _____ for you ?

Purpose 4 – to have _____ ?

Most businesses spend _____ times more to attract new customers than they ever do to keep the ones they have already got.

The reasons customers change:

Convenience _____

Relationship at a high level _____

Product/Price/Time _____

Miscellaneous _____

And the biggest reason people change: _____

Perceived in _____

Another way of expressing this is when the customer feels you just don't _____

The aim should be _____ to just satisfy the customer, but to _____ them.

Become Memorable.

What are some examples of Perceived Indifference that our customers might see?

You're Answers:

Awesome Customer Service - Worksheet

If word of mouth is the most powerful form of advertising we have, then....

“What am I doing right now (or what could I be doing) to generate positive word of mouth, to create advocates for the business.

You're Answers:

Let's rate the performance of our team as you see it at this point in time.

1 _____ 10
Awful Awesome

Now for the crucial question:

List down all the specific things you can do (either as an individual, or as a team or as an entire company) that can head you towards a 10 on the scale.

You're Ideas:

In demand as a speaker or corporate advisor, Peter balances a steady stream of bookings throughout Australia, Singapore and further afield. Bookings are usually required a month in advance.

Contact Darlene at Brown St Studio on (08) 9218 8426 or darlene@brownststudio.com.au for a fee estimate and availability.